A Call to Serve

Mother Teresa was born on August 26, 1910 in Yugoslavia. Her parents named her Agnes. Mother Teresa's family was Catholic. Her mother had great faith in God, and often invited poor people to eat with the family. When Agnes was eight, her father suddenly died. Life became difficult for the family, but Agnes's mother trusted in God, and worked hard to support Agnes and her older brother and sister. As Agnes grew up, just like her mother, she was very devout and wanted to give her life to God.

When Agnes was 18, she decided to become a nun<sup>1</sup>. She went to India and joined a convent<sup>2</sup>. In India, she began to teach at a school for girls. In 1937, she took her final vows<sup>3</sup> and received the name, Mother Teresa. Nine years passed with joyful work at the convent. Then, one day in 1946, Mother Teresa felt that Christ had spoken to her and asked her to love and care for the poorest of the poor. So, even though Mother Teresa loved her work at the convent, after she heard the word of God, she knew what to do. She left the convent and began to work on the streets. It was very difficult in the beginning, but Mother Teresa prayed to God and did her best to help people in the slums.

One day, Mother Teresa found a poor woman lying on the street. The woman was dying, so Mother Teresa took her to the hospital. But the hospital said they could not help the woman because they were too busy and overcrowded, and the woman was dying anyway. From this experience, Mother Teresa knew that she needed to start a home for dying people. In this way, she began her work to give comfort to the dying. Mother Teresa always said that the most painful hunger was not the hunger for food, but the hunger for love. She could not give these people a long, healthy life, but she could give them some kindness before they died.

Gradually, more and more people heard about the work that Mother Teresa was doing, and many volunteers started to help her. Other people donated money or food. After ten years, her work spread to other towns and even to other countries. Then in 1979, Mother Teresa won the Nobel Peace Prize for her work with the poor. When people asked her how to achieve peace in the world, she would say, "Love your family." Mother Teresa died in 1997 at the age of 87, but the beautiful work she did has continued to inspire people everywhere.
